

Inclusion Ambassadors Update

The termly newsletter on the work of the Inclusion Ambassadors

June 2023

Welcome to the latest edition of the Inclusion Ambassador Update. In this edition we have two very special updates to share around group membership and the return of some very important awards.

Changes to membership

This term we said a sad goodbye to three long-serving members of the Inclusion Ambassadors group. They have been valuable members who will be missed greatly. We wish them well on their next steps.

Over this term we have also been running a recruitment for new Ambassadors and are delighted to welcome 8 new members to the group.

We are pleased that this year we have representation from a range of school experiences including mainstream school, special school and being out of school. We also now have 15 of local authorities represented.

Watch this space for progress and news from the group in the new school year.

Remember, the Inclusion Ambassadors webpage shares latest news from the group, as well as the resources they have produced. You might find these useful reading and helpful resources when preparing to return to school after the holidays.

Success Looks Different Awards - Apply by 03 July

In case you missed it: the Success Looks Different Awards have returned for a second year!

The Awards, which were developed and launched by the Ambassadors last year, recognises schools who celebrate the achievements of all pupils, particularly those with additional support needs, and can evidence embedded practices which promote and support inclusion.

The Ambassadors have developed key success criteria which includes:

- Evidence of celebrating individual successes and positive relationships
- Evidence of creativity
- Evidence of sharing success with the wider community
- Evidence of respecting and promoting children's rights
- Recognition through awards and certificates

It's completely free to enter and applications can be made via a short online form available on the Success Looks Different webpages.
